

ajinaka (= Skt. °na plus -ka svārthe), deerskin: °kena Mv iii.144.9; 154.11 (both prose).

? ajina-khipa (or, Sktized, °kṣīpa; m. or nt.; = Pali °kḥīpa), deerskin dress (of an ascetic): °khipena, so I em. Mv ii.147.7, for mss. jana-kapilena, -karitena. The vs was puspitāgrā; Senart fails badly on it, but some of my guesses, too, are far from certain: kaṣāyapaṭa-(m.c. for kaṣāyapaṭā-) -valambitaprakarsī ajinakhipena vistirṇa aindramārge, bhūrikamalajāvākīrṇagātro śaraṇavare gata eka cakravākaḥ. See my Reader, Four Sights (Mv), end.

Ajiravati (Skt. Gr.: = Pali Aciravati; see also Āryavati), n. of a river at Śrāvastī: Av i.63.5 ff.; ii.69.3; MSV ii.85.20.

ajihma-kukṣi = abhuḡna (q.v.) -kukṣi.

a-jihmīkaraṇa, see jihmī°.

ajīvika: Śikṣ 332.1 (vs), probably only m.c. for āj° (despite note p. 414).

Ajeya, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 548 (not in ŚsP).

Ajñānavidhvaṃsana, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.12.

a-ñāna (nt.; Pali añña; MIndic for ajñāna, § 2.15), ignorance: jñānaṃ na kalpeti, aññānu (n. sg.) no bhavet MadhK 157.1 (vs; no v.l.).

[añja (añjas?), cf. Skt. añjas, quickly; exclamation used in Pali (Jāt. i.192.5, 29) in urging a draft-animal to go (gee! get up! go ahead!), come up! In LV 394.18 (vs) tad añja is Lefm.'s em. for tad-anya of all mss. and Calc. which seems to make no sense. Addressed by Brahmā to the Buddha, urging him to preach the law; presumed to mean perhaps come on! But Tib. seems to have had a quite different reading: kha ḥbyed pa, mouth open (Foucaux, ouvre la bouche; but the form is not given as impv. by Jā.). Should we read ud-añca, 2 sg. impv., for Skt. ud-añcaya, ertönen lassen (pw)? Graphic confusion of u and ta occurs in some Indian alphabets, e. g. in Śāradā.]

añjati (= Pali id., Skt. anakti), anoints, ppp. añjita: añjitehi akṣīhi Mv ii.234.17.

1 Añjana or °na-ka, n. of a king of Benares, father of Puṇyavant(a): Mv iii.33.12 (°nako, n. sg.), 15 (°nasya, gen.).

(2 añjana: mṛgo . . . raktehi khurehi añjanehi akṣīhi prabhāsvarehi darśaniyehi Mv i.363.18. No v.l.; but there is no authority for añjana as adj. [PTSD quotes 3 Jāt. passages for this, all erroneous.] Senart suggests sāñjanehi or equivalent. But perhaps render: with red hoofs and eyes bright and beautiful (as if?) with collyrium.)

añjaniya or °yā (so Senart with one ms.), or añjanaka or °kā (v.l.), acc. to Senart box for holding collyrium; cf. Pali añjanī, AMg añjaniyā (for °kā), id.: °niyā (v.l. °nakā; n. pl.) pi Mv ii.473.10, listed among products of a śaṅkha-valayakāra, q.v.

Añjalipriya, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 49.

Añjalimālādhārin, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

? añjiṣṭha: ŚsP 1561.6, 7 nā 'ñjiṣṭham, in a list of color words. Perhaps error (haplogr.) for (na) māñjiṣṭham? Otherwise may be identified with Skt. Gr. (Uṇādi) añjiṣṭha, Pali (according to Maung Tin, cited CPD) añjiṭṭha, the sun (to Vedic añji); in that case perhaps bright-colored.

aññāya, so Senart (with the Pali version, SN i.126.27) for mss. anyāya = Skt. āññāya, ger. of ā-jñā, knowing: °ya dharmam Mv iii.284.4 (vs).

Aṭakāvati (var. Ala°; Mironov Aṭaka°, no v.l.), n. of a place: Mvy 4137; presumably = Aḍakavati, q.v., = Skt. Alakā.

aṭakkara, m., apparently pathologically ravenous appetite: Mvy 9515, according to Tib. bkres ṅa ba (ed. suggests rñab, misprinted rñab, ba) and Chin.; in a list of diseases. See āṭakkara.

aṭaṭa, m. (= Pali id.), n. of a hell (cold, acc. to Dharmas and Tib. Mvy): Mvy 4931; Dharmas 122; Divy 67.23; 138.7; Av i.4.9 etc.; Mmk 635.22.

aṭanin (Skt. aṭana plus -in), wandering (adj.): paśyathā katham aṭany akhedavān Gv 481.24 (vs), see how, wandering, he is not wearied.

Aṭavaka (cf. Āṭavaka), n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.22.

Aṭavī (= Pali Āṭavī), n. of a town: Māy 15, 90. Lévi identifies the first with the Pali city-name but thinks the second a different locality.

Aṭavisambhavā, n. of a pond: Suv 184.6 ff. (note especially 188.2).

aṭṭa, m. (v.l. atta; so Mironov), a high number: Mvy 8067; Tib. phyor, which Das gives as = anta (read atta?), n. of a number. Cf. also iṭṭa.

[aṭṭahā(h): Mmk 19.10, read abṛhā(h) or avr°, q.v. a class of gods.]

? aṭṭiyānika or °vānika, pl. °kā, so mss. at Mv iii.442.15, corresponding to āgrivaniya at iii.113.10; Senart em. aṭṭavāñijā, which is quite implausible and not really easier to interpret. In a list of designations of various tradesmen or artisans.

Aṭṭeśvara, n. of a suparṇin, previous birth of Virūpākṣa: MSV i.260.19 ff.

Aḍakavati (= Skt. Alakā; see Aṭakā°, Ala°), n. of the capital of the yakṣas: LV 202.13; Suv 116.1 °vatyām (Nobel em. Aḍakā°, needlessly); Māy 106; 228.21.

aḍḍhatiya (= Pali id., acc. to CPD by haplogr. for aḍḍhatatiya = Skt. ardhatrītiya), or aḍḍhā°, two and a half. Senart's Index cites only aḍḍhātiya, which is read in text Mv iii.72.12 (mss. āvṛttiya) and 13 (mss. aṭṭātiya or aṭṭā°), while aḍḍhatiya is read in text Mv ii.312.10 (mss. aṭṭāti, omitting ya) and iii.75.7 (mss. aṭṭātiya).

Anāla (so Lefm. with some mss.) or Anāla (so Calc. with best mss.), n. of a town: LV 406.20 (prose) °lam, acc. sg.

aṇu, grain of sand (nowhere recorded in this sense): gaṅgānubhiḥ saṃmitāḥ LV 360.17.

aṇu-phala, m., lit. having minute fruit, millet (Tib. tsi tsi, tsi tse): Mvy 565.7.

(aṇḍa, cupola, the bulb-shaped part on the top of a stūpa: Divy 244.10, 11. See P. K. Acharya, Dict. Hindu Arch. 16, and pw 1.284.)

aṇḍakāṣṭha: Divy 384.24, acc. to Burnouf Intr. 376 eggshell; doubtful; see s.v. hirodaka.

Aṇḍabha, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 51.

Aṇḍāyana, pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.19.

aṇvati, rarely °te (derived by Senart, note on Mv i.15.10, from Skt. ṛṇvati), goes: aṇvati LV 192.7 (text 'nveti, unmetr.; cf. vv. ll. 'ṇvata, 'ṇvata); Mv i.264.12; ii.101.18 (mss.); 211.2 (mss.), 3; 457.15; iii.28.8; 144.17 ff; 154.17; 155.3, 9, etc.; °te SP 111.4 (Kashgar rec.; text haṃce); aṇvanti Mv i.15.10; ii.211.7; aṇvāmi Mv ii.226.14; aṇvāma (pl. for dual) Mv iii.310.10; aṇvāmas (v.l., text aṇcāmas) SP 168.9; aṇvantehi (em.; pres. pple.) Mv i.356.5; °ntena Mv ii.83.21; °nto Mv ii.212.16; 217.5; iii.28.9 (mss. °ati); 35.17; aṇvati (text °nti; n. sg. fem.) Mv iii.12.10; aṇvamānā Mv ii.441.6; aṇvi (aor., went; read °karmāṇvi, cf. WT who cite their ms. as °ṇvi!) SP 258.10; ppp. aṇvitaḥ Mv ii.210.15 (pādehi, went on foot); iii.144.15; °tā (em.) Mv i.356.10; ger. aṇviya Mv iii.145.1; inf. aṇvitu-kāmā(h) Mv ii.211.10; gdve. bhikṣā aṇvitaṃ Mv iii.178.7 one must go a-begging.

atapa, once atapas, the second of the śuddhāvāsa, and (usually pl.) the class-name of the gods who dwell there; in Pali atappa: Mvy 3103; Dharmas 128; LV 150.10; Mv ii.314.9; 319.7; 349.1; 360.22; Divy 68.16; 367.14; Av i.5.3; Mmk 19.10; 43.21 (text anaya); 69.6 (here sg. of an individual member of the class); atapas (s-stem, in comp.) Gv 249.10. Others, see s.v. deva.

atara, m. (cf. next), a high number: Mvy 7777 (°rah); Gv 106.14 (°rasya).
