

samasūpika, adj. (cf. Pali °paka), (food) having curry (sauce) equal (to the rice in amount): na °kam (sc. pratigrahiṣyāmāḥ) Mvy 8566; in the Pali parallels, Vin. iv.190.24 and 192.4, there is no negative, and samasūpaka must be taken to mean having sauce in the right amount, which acc. to the comm. 892.1 is one quarter of the rice.

samākampate (sam plus Skt. ā-kamp-), trembles greatly: (rājā ...) samācakampe Jm 227.22 (vs).

Samākṣarākāra, m., ŠsP 1421.1, or °kṣarāvakāra, Mvy 571, or with Mironov Mvy °kṣarāvakāra, m., n. of a samādhi. In another ŠsP list, 1413.15, the reading is °kṣarāvakāra as in Mironov.

samāgādha-tara, adj. compv. (cf. °gādha-tara), very serious, severe: °ram duhkham Kv 25.13.

samāgr̥hīta, ppp. (unrecorded; sam-ā-grah- rare and only Vedic), collected, assembled: °ta-puṇyāha-prasthāna-bhadrāṇām ... banijām Divy 593.20.

-samācarin, adj. ifc. (Skt. °ra plus -in), having, characterized by ... conduct: śuklakarma-°ri (n. sg. m.) Mmk 85.26.

(samājnā, name, a few times in late Vedic texts, = Pali samāññā; see s.vv. samajñā, samanyā)

samātta, ppp. (= samādatta, q.v.; to samādiyati, Skt. sam-ā-dā-; = Pali samatta, acc. to Childers and PTSD = Skt. samāpta, but this is disproved by collocation with samādinna, AN ii.193.1, and (vatapadāni) samattāni samādinnāni Dhp. comm. i.264.21), adopted, taken upon oneself, esp. of religious and moral obligations: °ta-samvarasya (see samvara) Śiks 15.1; pareśām cāsa-mātta (v.l. °mādatte) tasmiṁ kuśale samādāpanāya varṇavāditā, samātta (v.l. samādatte) vā punah samprahar-ṣanāya Bhb 30.15-16; śilam °ttam rakṣati 137.26; (bodhisattva-śīla-samvara)-samādānam samāttam 155.6; samātta-śīla (Bhvr.) 183.23; cintāyāh su-samātta-tvāt 109.12; daśakuśalakarmapatha-°ttānām sattvānām Gv 268.24 (here the ppp. has active force, who have adopted... see next).

samādatta, ppp. (= prec. and Pali, also BHS, samā-dinna; cf. the following items, and esp. samādāya, samādiyati), adopted, taken on oneself, of a moral or religious course; active in force: pañca śiṣyāpada-(q.v.)-samādattā LV 71.14, having adopted the five moral precepts, of Māyā; nāgarājā ... upavāsam °tto Mv ii.178.1, and mama ... upavāsam °tasya 6, having undertaken a fast.

samādapaka, m. (or adj.; Pali id.; to °dāpeti; = °dāpaka), one who incites (another) to assume or take upon himself: pravrajyā-°ko ... bhūtakalyāṇamitra(m)? KP 14.4 (prose!); em. °dāpako? cf. next).

samādapana, °nā (Pali id.; = °dāpana, °nā; cf. next), incitement to assume, to take on oneself: bodhayi citta-samādapanena (mss. °yanena; ed. prints citta as separate word) Śiks 337.2 (vs), by incitement towards thoughts of enlightenment; here °dāp may be m.c.; but, buddhaya-°dāpanām na śrīpvanti SP 43.8-9 is prose; WT em. to °dāpanām, perh. rightly, since samādapeti occurs only in vss; cf. however prec.

samādapeti (only in vss, perh. m.c.; = Pali id.; cf. prec. two) = °dāpayati, q.v., incites, inspires (a person, acc.) to (a goal, when expressed acc. or loc.): pravrajya (acc.) ye cāpi samādapeti KP 14.13; °peti (mss. and WT) bahubodhisattvān acintye 'nuttami (so read) buddhajñāne SP 23.6; various forms, always with object bahubodhisattvān, no goal expressed, SP 12.11; 56.4; 64.7; 323.9; 394.4. Pali (see Childers) uses dat. or loc. of goal; with samādetvā once acc. (and acc. of the person also). See also next.

[samādayati, prob. only erroneous reading for °diyati or °dāpeti, qq.v.; (1) = °diyati, assumes, takes on oneself a religious duty: °dayitvā (sc. the moral and religious practices mentioned in the prec. line) Śiks 304.2

(vs), read °diyitvā, to °diyati, with same line Mv ii.382.14; in Mv i.145.8 (vs) mss. samodayāmi (prāṇehi ahimsa, so read, see v.l. ii.6.2, brahmacaryam ca), for which samādāyāmi might be read, but Senart properly reads samādiyāmi with same line i.202.5 and ii.6.2; (2) for the caus. samā-dapeti, °dāpeti, qq.v.: sambodhimārga (acc.) sada sattva (acc. pl.) °dayanti RP 15.6 (vs, read °dāpeti, or possibly °dāpanti with a for e), they ever incite creatures to take up the way to enlightenment; śīla samādayi (read °dāpi, prob. aor., possibly ger.) yad bahusattvān Śiks 337.1 (vs), and so, vīrya samādayi (read °pi) yad bahusattvān 11 (vs); in SP 12.11 (vs) Nep. mss. samādayanto bahubodhisattvān, Kashgar rec. °dāpeti, ed. em. °dāpento; certainly °dāp is to be read.]

samādāna, nt. (once possibly m.; = Pali id.; to samādiyati etc.), (1) assumption, taking upon oneself, undertaking, of any course of action: sarveśām karmaṇām karma-°nānām Mv iii.321.3, of all acts and undertakings of acts; -karma-°na- LV 433.6, 7; sarvakarma-°na- Gv 463.24; rarely of evil courses, (mithyādṛṣṭi-karma-)°nāhetoh Mv ii.132.10; mithyādṛṣṭi-°nāt sattvā gacchanti durgatim Ud xvi.4 (= Pali Dhp. 316); oftener of moral or religious undertakings, karmapatha- (q.v.)
